

GRADUATE DEGREE
PROGRAM IN ECOLOGY
COLORADO STATE UNIVERSITY

September 3rd, 2019

From your GDPE Admin Team

With Labor Day and summer behind us, we begin week two of the semester. This seems like a good time to remind the GDPE community of the purpose of this weekly digest. Rather than send you multiple emails each week (which folks become numb to and eventually ignore), this weekly digest is designed to consolidate those into one email (that you hopefully won't ignore!). So please scan below to make sure you don't miss anything.

As a reminder, students, please pay attention to dates and make sure to have your courses registered for prior to deadlines (see below). If you have missed a deadline (especially for research/thesis/dissertation credits), please make sure to submit an override request via our GDPE webpage here. Dawn will help you as soon as she can, but your patience is appreciated during this very busy time of year.

Our Science Communications fellow, Arianna Punzalan, is looking for an undergraduate intern to help with Twitter management and small writing projects. If you are teaching an undergraduate course or know of students eager to gain marketable experience, please share this opportunity! Click for large flyer. Click for small flyer.

Finally, if you have something you would like to share with our GDPE community (e.g. job announcements, workshops, courses, etc), please submit them here, rather than emailing us directly. If you have questions, you may contact our Program Coordinator, Dawn Koschnitzki. Thank you for helping to keep our community informed!
